17UGLH 3.4	Course Credit Structure: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1) A certain quantum of academic work, measured in terms of credits, is laid down as the requirement for completion of degree in the different programmes and the available specialization areas. A student earns credits by satisfactorily completing courses/other academic activities every semester. 2) The credits are distributed semester wise, as prescribed in the Scheme of Teaching and Evaluation for each of the programmes. The courses generally progress in sequences, building competencies as per the course learning outcomes. The positioning of a course indicates certain academic maturity on the part of the students.

	3) Some courses do, in addition, specify passing in other courses, offered earlier in the programmes, as prerequisites for the course. 4) Students are required to follow the semester wise schedule of courses specified in Scheme of Teaching and Evaluation; they do, however, have freedom to follow alternative schedules to optimize their academic profile with additional courses, keeping the requirements for each course in mind. Such departures from suggested schedules need to be done very carefully, and always with advice from the Faculty Adviser.
17UGLH 3.5	Courses: There will be following types of courses in a programme, namely: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1) Core Course: A course, which should compulsorily be studied by a candidate as a core requirement is termed as a Core course. 2) Elective Course: Generally a course which can be chosen from a pool of courses and which may be very specific or specialized or advanced or supportive to the discipline/ subject of study or which provides an extended scope or which enables an exposure to some other discipline/subject/domain or nurtures the candidate's proficiency/skill is called an Elective Course. 3) Compulsory Foundation Course: Compulsory foundation courses are chosen by the university from the list of subjects prescribed by the Bar Council of India and shall be mandatory for the students to undertake. 4) Core Language Course: A course, which should compulsorily be studied by a candidate as a language requirement is termed as a Core language course. 5) Compulsory Clinical Course: Clinical courses are prescribed by the Bar Council of India and shall be mandatory for the students to undertake. 6) Ability Enhancement Courses (AEC): AEC courses are the courses based upon the content that leads to Knowledge enhancement. 7) Skill Enhancement Courses (SEC): SEC courses are value-based and/or skill-based and are aimed at providing hands-on-training, competencies, skills, etc. These courses may be chosen from a pool of courses designed to provide value-based and/or skill-based knowledge. 8) Graduate Requirement (GR) Courses: These are courses on peripheral subjects in a programme, wherein completion of the course is considered mandatory to qualify for the award of the Degree.

The Courses of the UG Law Programmes are further classified as follows:

1) Program Core (Credit Courses): Each academic programme is divided into Program Core or Common core courses which are further divided into mandatory and choice segments, with levels within them.

The Program Core courses are broadly categorized into Foundation, Electives and Interdisciplinary.

Foundation, Elective and interdisciplinary courses are discipline specific or allied to the program. Foundation courses are mandatory courses that are offered through the period of study of the program. Foundation courses are offered as fundamental, intermediate and advanced courses based on the prerequisite and difficulty level (100 Level / 200 Level / 300 Level etc.) of the course. Elective courses are a basket of courses from which the student gets to choose. Elective courses are either specialization courses or generic courses. Elective courses include mini projects, dissertations, internships and capstone projects. Students also have the option to choose from a set of interdisciplinary courses which are varied from their discipline and offered by other Schools of Studies of the University.

Mandatory segments are those which lay a firm foundation of the knowledge required to complete a programme in the chosen domain, ending with a multifaceted assignment that serves as a culminating academic and intellectual experience for students, typically during their final year.

Choice segments are those which a student could opt for to specialize further and / or to improve their interdisciplinary skills.

All segments carry credits, and the students are expected to earn the minimum number of credits in their coursework towards program core to earn the degree.

2) Common Core (Credit Courses): Common Core Curriculum (CCC) courses are to be pursued by all students of the University regardless of their School of Study. It also encourages students to explore themselves and issues of fundamental importance to society through the Common Core Curriculum (CCC) courses. Students are expected to earn a certain specified number of credits in their coursework towards the Common Core Curriculum (CCC), during their academic programmes. While some courses are in workshop mode, which can be completed over a few days at a stretch, there are other courses which are offered for a specific number of hours per week throughout a semester.

Students take these courses planned for each academic programme, over multiple semesters. Credits range from 1 to 4, which are directly proportional to the number of hours required to complete a course. There are both 'mandatory' and 'choice' courses, with levels within them.

3) Common Core (Non-credit Courses / Engagement) - Graduate Requirement (GR): Engagements for this category do not carry any credit(s)

but are mandatory for the students to complete them within the duration of the programme, to be considered eligible to graduate (or) earn the degree. These shall be:

- a) Courses embedded in the academic programme, where the students must ensure that they attend a minimum attendance percentage.
- b) Community Service Program are activities implemented under the Common Core Curriculum Community Service Program (CCC CSP) in which the students have to complete a minimum number of volunteering hours in a semester by rendering services to the society and submit a Reflection Record (RRD) for every volunteering activity completed. In case of a student not having completed the minimum number of volunteering hours in a semester, the shortage in number of hours is to be completed in the subsequent semester(s). However, the student has to complete the mandated total number of volunteering hours within the duration of the programme and submit a Reflection Record (RRD) for every volunteering activity completed.

4) Advanced Course: Courses that involve higher and more complex levels of knowledge and understanding than introductory or foundational learning. It means the student has attained a level of knowledge and understanding of a particular area or topic that goes beyond basic terminology and definitions and is ready to be involved in Analysis, Synthesis and Evaluation of information related to a specific topic or area of learning.

5) Prerequisite course: Course or other requirement that a student must have taken prior to enrolling in a specific course. Students might or might not have a choice of prerequisites to complete.

Courses under various categories can be further classified as:

- 100 Level Courses: These courses offer an introduction to a subject area and are designed for students in the first year of study. These courses have no prerequisites and are generally courses defining basic concepts or presenting the terminology of a discipline

- 200 Level Courses: These courses are built on previous units and are normally taken in the second year or later; they may also be available to students with advanced prior knowledge. They are Courses of intermediate college-level difficulty; courses with 100-level course(s) as prerequisite(s)
- 300 Level Courses: These courses are usually taken in third year or later, after 200-level study in the area. They may also be available to students with advanced prior knowledge. They are courses of advanced college-level difficulty offered for students clearly interested in the discipline or in any stream of the discipline
- 400 Level Courses: These units of study are advanced courses and are normally taken in the third year or later as the final elements of a three year or four year degree or an integrated degree. The level indicates that the student will be demonstrating coherence and breadth or depth of knowledge and skills. The student may need to have completed a prerequisite course to study a 400 level course.
- 500 Level Courses: These are foundation level courses for higher education qualifications, usually taken in the first year of the masters or postgraduate degree programmes. These are courses meant for students aspiring to specialise in a discipline and would have prerequisites to study a course at this level, which would have been covered in the core curriculum at the bachelor's degree programme in the same discipline.
- 600 Level Courses: These courses are usually opted for at the second year of the masters or postgraduate degree programmes, which enhance the learning experience of the previous units. The difficulty level is clearly higher and the student is expected to demonstrate a certain level of proficiency and competence in grasping and interpreting the knowledge gained in the discipline at this level.
- 700 Level Courses: The courses prescribed at this level serve as a culminating academic and intellectual experience for students, and are usually taken towards the final semesters of the masters or postgraduate degree programmes where they acquire the skills and knowledge to analyse, evaluate, and solve challenges akin to those faced in real life situations, resulting in achieving mastery in the discipline.

17UGLH 3.6	Seminars: Some Programmes may prescribe Seminar as a requirement for the degree. Seminar may be an assessment component or a course itself wherein the student is expected to do an in-depth study in a specialized area under the guidance of a faculty member. This may include surveying published legal literature, understanding different aspects of the problem and arriving at a status report. While doing a seminar, the student is expected to: critically analyze works of various authors/ researchers; learn the investigation methodologies, study concepts, techniques and the results presented in these papers; and submit a seminar report. It is mandatory to give a seminar presentation before a panel constituted for the purpose. Seminars typically carry 1 to 2 credits.

Based on the number of Credits for a course and obtained Grade Point (GP) for that course in a Semester, the GPA is calculated as given below: a) The SGPA is the ratio of sum of the product of the number of credits with the grade points secured by a student in all the courses taken by him and the sum of the number of credits of all the courses undergone by a student, i.e., $SGPA = \frac{\sum (C_i \times G_i)}{\sum C_i}$ Where C_i is the number of credits of the i^{th} course and G_i is the grade point scored by the student in the i^{th} course.

	b) The CGPA is also calculated in the same manner taking into account all the courses undergone by a student over all the semesters of a programme, i.e., $CGPA = \sum (C_n \times S_n) / \sum C_n$ Where S_n is the SGPA of the n^{th} semester and C_n is the total number of credits in that semester. Finally the SGPA and CGPA shall be rounded off to 2 decimal places.
